U.S. Navy Fighter Shoots Down MIG21

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Navy fighter-bomber escorted a reconnaissance plane shot down a MIG21 over North Vietnam Saturday, the U.S. Command announced today. It was the first kill claimed by the Americans over the North since the bombing halt 17 months ago.

A spokesman said he did not know if the MIG pilot fired at the Navy F4 Phantom jet and the unarmed RF4C Phantom photographic plane as they flew over Thanh Hoa province, 125 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone.

But he called the North Vietnamese plane an "attacking" aircraft, adding: "Undoubtedly it was in some sort of maneuver indicating that it was attacking the reconnaissance aircraft."

It was the 11th North Vietnamese plane claimed by U.S. aircraft, the spokesman said, but the first since Sept. 19, 1968, six weeks before President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam. Despite the bombing halt, U.S. planes have continued to fly reconnaissance missions over North Vietnam regularly, accompanied by fighter-bomber escorts. Several have been shot down.

There was no American comment on a North Vietnamese claim that a Phantom reconnaissance plane was shot down by North Vietnamese gunners Sunday over Quang Binh province, just north of the Demilitarized Zone. The North Vietnamese report did not say what happened to the plane's two crewmen.

In the ground fighting, government units in the western Mekong Delta were credited with killing at least 33 North Vietnamese regulars Monday in the Seven Mountains area after rangers and armored units were shifted south to reinforce them.

The battle in the shadow of a 1,600-foot Nui Cam—one of the giant rock outcroppings laced with caves used as hideouts by the North Vietnamese—was the biggest single engagement since the enemy started attacking government outposts and towns in the area on Easter eve.

It raised to at least 115 the number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong reported slain. There have been more than 300 South Vietnamese military and civilian casualties, including 30 to 40 dead.

Crackdown Possible Against Controllers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government moved ahead today with a hard-nosed crackdown against striking air controllers in a move to smash the week-old slow-up air traffic.

As the so-called sick-in work stoppage by controllers continued to spread the Federal Aviation Administration openly threatened to fire or suspend those who stay away from their posts.

And, reacting to a Justice Department request, U.S. attorneys in a number of cities sought temporary restraining orders to stop the strike.

The effect of the new strategy was not immediately clear early today as flight delays and tieups continued in major airports throughout the nation.

Plane Hijacked To Korean Site

SEOUL (AP) — The pilot of a Japanese airliner hijacked by leftist students landed at Seoul's international airport today, and the South Koreans tried to trick the hijackers into believing they were in North Korea. But the ruse failed.

About four hours after the plane landed with 115 persons aboard, the pilot asked the control tower to allow him to take off.

"We want to land some 120 miles north of here," he said, apparently meaning at Pyongyang, the North Korean capital and the destination the hijackers had demanded.

Sources at the airport said the local manager of Japan Air Lines sent the hijackers a note telling them the pilot could take them to Pyongyang but they should allow the other 95 or more passengers and crewmen to get off in Seoul.

The sources said there was no immediate response from the hijackers.

The South Koreans had rigged up signs to make the airport appear to be Pyongyang's and tried other devices to convince the hijackers they were in the Communist North, but the ruses failed.

Learning from the pilot's call shortly before 7 p.m. that the tricks had failed, the authorities withdrew a group of South Korean troops who had been standing guard near the plane in North Korean uniforms.

It was not known, however, whether the plane could make a safe flight to North Korea, particularly at night.

U.S. Mediator Joins Trucking Industry Confab

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal mediator has moved into negotiations between union and trucking industry officials in an effort to obtain a new wage agreement before the current contract covering 425,000 drivers expires at midnight.

The Teamsters union has not announced a strike call, but when there was no indication Monday that an agreement was near on the main issue—a federal mediator stepped in.

The industry, through its Trucking Employers Inc., is offering a wage and benefit hike of $1 an hour over three years. Teamsters are looking for $1.75 an hour boost in wages alone.

Meanwhile, Labor Secretary George P. Shultz Monday called in negotiators in the long railroad shopcraft union dispute to see if any progress was being made. Sources said there has been no change.

Weather

ESCANABA AND VICINITY—Generally fair today, tonight and Wednesday. Cooler today with highs in the mid 30s. Colder tonight and Wednesday. Low tonight near 15, high Wednesday around 30. Westerly winds 8 to 18 mph today and 5 to 12 mph tonight and Wednesday. Probabilities of precipitation: 10 percent today, tonight and Wednesday. Escanaba's high Monday was 33 with a low of 22.

U-M Boycott Tapers Off; BAM Rally Slated Tonight

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Negotiations between the Black Action Movement and University of Michigan officials broke up about 4 a.m. today with both sides declining comment on whether major issues have been resolved.

However, one BAM official said a moratorium has been called on picketing campus buildings although a student strike is still on. A statement issued by BAM said it will meet again with university officials, including President Robben Fleming, later today. It also said BAM was calling a rally tonight but the nature of the rally was not disclosed.

Apology Accepted
BAM leaders accepted a letter of apology from Fleming Monday after a premature announcement of details from the secret negotiations caused talks to break off Sunday. Negotiations began about 8:30 p.m. Monday night.

The 12-day-old strike tapered off a bit Monday as attendance was about 20-30 per cent below normal, higher than last Friday's reported 50 per cent figure. The college of Literature, Arts and Science remained the hardest hit with about 40 per cent of its 11,000 students out.

Picketing Peaceful
There was limited peaceful picketing and no incidents of violence were reported Monday.

Governor William Milliken said that "It is absolutely essential that students who want to attend classes are free to do so." Milliken warned that disruption or intimidation at the university would not be tolerated. Some 300 State Police and sheriff's deputies were stationed with Ann Arbor city police near the campus. The strike was called March 20 to support 12 demands made by BAM to the university regents. According to a statement released by the university most of them have been tentatively resolved.

The current negotiations reportedly center on a BAM demand that a center for black students be located off campus in the north Ann Arbor area. The university has agreed to the center, but not the location.

Wants Program Halted
BAM wants a Black Student Program halted until a community-university forum can be established. The university has agreed, but no details of the plan have been released.

A proposal that a university appeal board be created to rule on the adequacy of financial aid and grants has been agreed to by the university, but the financing of the board and details of its operation have not been settled.

The BAM demand that a Parents Confidential Statement portion of the forms a student must submit for financial aid be revamped has been agreed to but details again are not available.

Demands Approved
A BAM demand for a recruiter for Mexican-American students and 50 such students enrolled by fall 1970 has been agreed to by the university. And a BAM demand that all blacks be referred to as blacks only, not Negroes or anything else has been incorporated into university publications rules.

BAM leaders and police officials met Monday to set up ground rules for continued picketing of the campus and BAM was told that no obstructive picketing would be allowed. BAM leaders have urged peaceful picketing and action throughout the strike, especially since roving students broke windows last week.

One of the major problems now facing the negotiators is the question of amnesty for strikers. BAM has said that no amnesty is requested for students involved in property damage.

Two Detroit area Democratic state legislators, James Bradley and David S. Holmes, Jr., visited the campus and said that reports of planned reprisals were "especially disturbing, since the strike was one of the most, if not the most peaceful strike ever conducted." They said that there was little evidence of property damage at the university.

The two representatives said (Please Turn To Pg. 13, Col. 1)

Postal Workers Get Wage Offer; Talks Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a fresh wage offer on the table, government and union negotiators kept talking today in an effort to resolve the simmering postal pay dispute.

The government offered a proposed wage settlement to postal union officials early today after six consecutive hours of bargaining.

Details of the new wage offer were not disclosed but it was put before the negotiators after Postmaster General Winton Blount received instructions from President Nixon.

Blount reported that Nixon was "very hopeful" the negotiations can be concluded soon.

The talks started last week after a widespread walkout of postal workers crippled mail deliveries in many areas of the nation.

Nixon sent troops to help move the mail in New York city. The strike soon crumbled in the face of court action and the promise of pay raise negotiations by the government.

But the threat of a new strike hangs over the negotiations—although both sides said no deadline for another walkout has been set.

Predecessor To Hitler Dies In Vermont Home

NORWICH, Vt. (AP) — Dr. Heinrich Brüning, Adolf Hitler's predecessor as chancellor of Germany, died Monday at his home here. He was 84.

Brüning, one of the few who dared stand up against Hitler during his rise to power, was chancellor during the last years of the Weimar Republic, from March 29, 1930, to May 30, 1932, when his forced resignation brought an end to German democracy. Hitler was named chancellor eight months later.

Brüning came to the United States in 1934.

Chicago Bomb Factory Found

CHICAGO (AP) — Police have uncovered what they described as a bomb factory in a North Side apartment building where they reported finding 59 sticks of dynamite, an explosive liquid, weapons and ammunition.

Police department bomb experts said the explosives, if detonated, could have destroyed the three-story building and much of the residential block.

The find made Monday night, also included what police described as Communist literature and pamphlets telling how to make bombs and how to carry on guerrilla warfare.

One man was arrested and charged with possession of explosives.

In addition to a box containing the dynamite and blasting caps, police said, they found two 12-gauge shotguns, a 30-caliber rifle, a 22-caliber rifle, a quantity of ammunition and four bottles of an explosive liquid.

New Earthquake Kills 24 Persons

GEDIZ, Turkey — (AP) — A sharp new earthquake struck this devastated region of western Turkey today, killing at least 24 more persons and causing more damage in several villages.

The new tremor shook Gediz, where rescue workers still were digging out the victims of an earthquake last Saturday which took an estimated 1,300 lives.

Villages around the half-flattened town were hard hit by the new shock this morning.

"The figure of 24 dead in the new tremor is only preliminary," said a relief official.

By Monday night, soldiers and other rescue workers had dug 644 bodies from the rubble as a steady rain fell and after shocks shook the ground from time to time.

Bodies covered by sodden blankets and brightly colored Turkish rugs were everywhere.

C5 Fund Program Hit By Proxmire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire charged the Pentagon today with "an appalling lack of knowledge" about Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s financial condition in connection with the controversial C5 super transport contract.

The Wisconsin Democrat told the Senate in a prepared speech he has been informed the Nixon administration may soon ask Congress "to make provision" for Lockheed's $641 million claim on the C5 and three other contracts "despite the current ignorance about Lockheed's finances and the reasons for Lockheed's condition."

Calling for a detailed explanation of the administration's position and its analysis of the situation, he said:

"Presently there are many more questions than there are answers, and it would be a serious breach of the public trust if the decision were made before these questions were completely answered."

Lockheed said earlier this month it faced serious financial problems unless the government came through with a $641 million cash advance for four military programs—the C5, the Cheyenne helicopter, the SRAM missile and several shipbuilding contracts.

The supertransport, a controversial defense item because of the disclosure of huge cost overruns, helped put Lockheed into financial trouble, according to the firm. In the face of strong criticism, the Pentagon cut back the C5 order.

Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard said the Pentagon supports Lockheed's financial plea to assure that it can complete production.

Responding to Proxmire's claim, Thomas F. Morrow, executive vice President of Lockheed, said the firm has worked with a Pentagon task force providing the financial analysis required.

Proxmire said that interim data compiled by the General Accounting Office indicated the Pentagon has no list of all Lockheed military, space and related contracts, although he said one is being compiled.

Newer Abortion Bill Narrowly Misses Approval

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Assembly has narrowly rejected a bill to replace New York's strict abortion law with one described as the most liberal in the nation.

But supporters vowed to bring the measure up again in the current legislative session and predicted it would pass the second time around.

The measure would permit a physician to abort a fetus within 24 weeks from conception if a pregnant woman so desired.

Abortions of longer pregnancies would be allowed only when necessary to save the life of the mother.

The Senate had passed a bill last week which contained neither the time restriction nor the mother's consent requirement.

The current law, which has remained basically unchanged for almost a century, permits abortions only when the mother's life is endangered by the continuation of the pregnancy.

Policeman, Two Men Being Held In Kidnaping

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentine police held three men including a policeman and sought a fourth today for the attempted kidnaping of a Soviet diplomat.

The diplomat, Yuri Pivovarov, 40-year-old assistant chief of the Soviet Embassy's commercial office, was reported in a "dedicate but not grave" condition with a head wound he received as the four kidnapers forced him to drive off with them in an embassy limousine Sunday night.

Two of the kidnapers also were wounded by a police guard who emptied his automatic pistol into the back of the car. The police gave no details of the arrests, but it was believed the two men were picked up at the hospital to which they were taken by a passing army truck after abandoning the limousine.

The Interior Ministry said among those arrested was a noncommissioned officer in the federal police, Carlos Benigno Balbuena, who was known for his "ideas of the extreme right." But Interior Minister Francisco Imaz denied "rumors which attempt to connect the incident with security forces or other state institutions."

A right - wings organization called the Organized Argentine National Movement, or MANO, lauded the abductors as "heroes."

The Soviet government sent a protest note charging that "a campaign of threats and blackmail" against the embassy was under way. It expressed the hope the kidnapers would be found and that diplomatic personnel would be properly protected.

Black Official Sticks By Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A black government official says he stands behind a letter he wrote favorable to G. Harrold Carswell's Supreme Court nomination and denies the Justice Department pressured him into writing it.

Charles F. Wilson, deputy chief conciliator for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission since last fall, said in an interview "There has been no pressure, neither threats nor promises."

Instead he indicated that since he wrote the Feb. 5 letter, pressure on him had come from those opposing President Nixon's nomination of the Tallahassee, Fla., federal appeals court judge.

"Obviously, most of the people associated with me most of my life are very unhappy," he said. "But what I said in my letter are my views."

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., opened the controversy Monday with a charge that Justice officials had pressured Wilson into writing the letter.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst told a news conference that Cranston's charges were "absolutely false." And Assistant Atty. Gen. William H. Rehnquist said Wilson had volunteered to write the letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Census Forms Pickup Starts In Delta County

Census enumerators will soon visit each home in Delta County with training of enumerators conducted in Gladstone and Escanaba Monday and today under the direction of crew leaders Marilpn Neiman and Betty Rolig.

The enumerators for Delta County are:

The enumerators will begin picking up the census questionnaires from each home in Delta County on Wednesday, April 1, and continue to do so until each house is visited. Each questionnaire will be checked to see that all questions have been answered. They will also assist anyone who may need help in completing his form.

"The law requires that census questions be answered truthfully and to the best of one's knowledge. This has been so for every census since 1790. Your cooperation will help make this a more accurate census," it was announced.

Chamber Awards Gift Certificate To First Captain

President Thomas Straebel of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce presented a merchandise gift certificate on behalf of the Chamber to Captain Clarence Miller of the U. S. S. Wilfred Sykes at the C&NW dock office Tuesday night.

The presentation was made on the occasion of the opening of the ore shipping season and is made annually by the Chamber to the first ore boat of the navigation season.

Also on hand for the presentation was Chamber Manager Walter G. Lewke.

Moses Honored At U. Of Iowa

James Moses

IOWA CITY — A young man from Escanaba — James (Mike) Moses — was one of three persons honored as recipients of the 1970 Hancher-Finkbine Madallions during the 53rd annual Finkbine Dinner at the University of Iowa.

Moses, who will graduate from the university's medical school May 28, was honored for outstanding leadership and service to the university.

Also receiving awards were Philip Adler, president of Lee Enterprises and publisher of the Davenport Times — Democrat, and Prof. George Forell, director of the School of Religion at the university.

Moses, a 1962 graduate of Escanaba High School, played on the Iowa football and baseball teams as an undergraduate. He received a Forest Evashevski award and was selected to the All Big Ten baseball team and to the All Big Ten Academic football team. He was named to Omicron Delta Kappa, honor society for college men in 1965, and is a member of Alpha Kappa Kappa, medical fraternity.

As a freshman in medicine, Moses earned honor grades in biochemistry and neuroanatomy and as a junior in otolaryngology, surgery, internal medicine, urology and orthopedic surgery. He was assistant to the Iowa Athletic Department's team physician during the four years he has been a medical student.

Moses is the son of Mrs. Merrill Carlson, Rte. 1, Box 350, Escanaba. He is married to the former Sue Junge of Bettendorf, Iowa and they have one son, Todd, 2.

Following graduation from medical school in May, he will intern for one year at Johnstown, Pa. After internship, he hopes to return to the University of Iowa for further study in orthopedic surgery.

Shouldice To Talk To Mead Science Essay Winners

Mead Corp.'s annual Science Essay Contest awards dinner will introduce leaders of Michigan's newest state college to a Delta County audience at 7 p. m., Thursday, April 9, at the House of Ludington.

Frank Hoholik, president of Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., and chairman of the newly-appointed board of control of Lake Superior State College, Sault Ste. Marie, will introduce Dr. Kenneth J. Shouldice, president of the college, as the speaker on the program honoring the science essay award winners.

Lake Superior College was granted autonomy Jan. 1 after 23 years as a branch of Michigan Technological University.

Dr. Shouldice was administrator of War Memorial Hospital at Sault Ste. Marie when he was appointed chancellor at the Sault college.

Robert E. Barron, manager of personnel relations of Mead's Escanaba Paper Co., who is in charge of the science award contest and dinner program, said nine science essayists from Delta County high schools will be honored, along with their parents, science instructors and school administrators.

The essayists have chosen subjects in the scientific fields of biology, chemistry, or physics and awards of $50, $25 and $15 will be made to first, second and third place winners in each category. Science teachers advising first place winners will also receive $25 and the essay judged best among the first place winners will receive an additional $100 award.

Vandeville Has Straight A's At Superior College

Joseph Vandeville, first year student at Lake Superior State College, Sault Ste. Marie, has achieved an academic record of straight A's for the past two semesters. He is a 1964 graduate of Escanaba High School, a Vietnam veteran, and has spent three years in the U. S. Navy.

Besides carrying a schedule of 21 credits, Vandeville is employed parttime. His wife, the former Caroline Besson of Brampton, is a Michigan civil service employee. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Vandeville of the Chemical Location, Gladstone.

The young people spent the Easter vacation at their homes here.

Briefly Told

William John Potvin, 22, of Rapid River pleaded guilty to charges of driving under the influence of alcohol and was ordered to pay a fine of $50, $47 costs and $3 judgment fees in District Court Monday; and Ken Iverson, Escanaba, received a one-year delayed sentence on an assault and battery charge.

Divorces granted by Judge Bernard H. Davidson in Circuit Court Monday were Diane C. McPhee from Ronald P. McPhee; Janie Ellen Ogren from Rodney Charles Ogren; and Mae Lillian Pirlot from Matthew Pirlot.

Levin To Visit Escanaba Today

Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley, who Monday announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will be in Escanaba tonight on his first full day on the campaign trail.

Levin will visit three other communities in the Upper Peninsula before arriving in Escanaba for an 8 p.m. meeting at the Civic Center as part of what Democratic party leaders termed an "issues, people, involvement" campaign.

A number of community leaders from Delta County have been invited to the Civic Center to meet with Levin to discuss problems of environmental pollution. Delta County has been a hotbed of environmental action in the Upper Peninsula during the past year.

Levin also is scheduled to meet with Democratic party members in Houghton, with unemployed miners in Calumet and attend a reception in his honor at Marquette before coming to Escanaba.

Ore Movement Starts; Cutter Assists Boats

Escanaba's opening as an ore port — first with traffic on the Great Lakes this spring — is off to a slow start because of bad ice conditions.

The ore carrier Sykes cleared with a cargo of ore from the Chicago & North Western dock this morning, followed by the L. E. Block, both of Inland Steel. They are carrying ore to Indiana Harbor.

The Coast Guard cutter Mesquite, called back from Sturgeon Bay yesterday, cut additional channels and widened others to help the big ore boats out of Bay de Noc.

The North Western is hopeful of loading out 10 million tons of ore this year, compared to nearly 7 million last year.

Turan Sentenced On B & E Charge

David Ashley Turan, Rte. 1, Escanaba, pleaded guilty to a breaking and entering charge in Circuit Court Monday and was sentenced to one and a half to ten years in the Marquette Prison by Judge Bernard H. Davidson.

Turan broke into the Beneficial Finance Co. of Escanaba on Dec. 24, 1969.

Another charge against Turan, breaking and entering the Needham Electric Shop in Escanaba on Jan. 12, 1970, was dismissed.

In other cases heard yesterday in Circuit Court by Judge Davidson, Louis J. Broussard, Marquette, pleaded guilty to charges of negligent homicide in an accident on Jan. 4, 1970 on U. S. 2 and 41 in which Alfred J. Lavigne died from injuries received in the accident; and Richard G. Thomas, Grand Rapids, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the Michigan Liquor Control Commission in Escanaba on March 15, 1970. Both men will be sentenced April 20.

Mead To Divest Self From Distributors

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Mead Corp., will divest itself of 23 to 27 Mead owned paper merchant distributors in 19 states under a consent decree agreement submitted to the Justice Department.

Mead President James W. McSwiney said the Justice Department agreed Monday to the agreement submitted by the company.

"Under terms of the proposed decree," McSwiney said, "Mead will, over a three-year period, divest itself of from 23 to 27 merchant houses which the corporation owns in full or in part."

Two houses slated for sale are Union Paper and Twine Co. of offices in Detroit and Jackson, Mich. A possible third in Michigan, Birmingham and Prosser, is in Grand Rapids.

He said this would leave Mead with at least 31 wholly owned paper merchants.

In addition, McSwiney added, the company agrees not to acquire any additional fine paper merchants for 10 years without permission from the Justice Department.

The Mead president said the company does not admit any violation of anti-trust laws under the agreement. He said the company feels operation of the merchant group has promoted competition and that the company will continue to promote competition.

McSwiney said the company expects those houses that are sold to continue their Mead franchise.

McSwiney listed those merchant houses to be sold as: Cleveland Paper Co., Cleveland; Union Paper and Twine Co., Detroit and Jackson, Mich.; Dillard Paper Co., Atlanta, Birmingham, Bristol, Tenn., Columbia and Greenville, S. C., and Knoxville, Tenn.; Dixon Paper Co., Albuquerque, N. M., Billings, Mont., Boise, Idaho, El Paso, Tex., Grand Junction and Pueblo, Colo., and Salt Lake City, Utah; Amarillo Paper Co., Amarillo, Tex.; Lubbock, Tex.; Noland Paper Co., Los Angeles and San Diego, Calif.; and White Rose Paper Co., Baltimore, Md.

In addition, McSwiney said Mead will, at its option, dispose of either Dixon Paper Co., Denver and Colorado Springs, Colo.; or Birmingham and Prosser of Des Moines, Iowa; Grand Rapids, Mich., and New York City; Wichita Paper Co., Wichita, Kan.; Southern Paper Co., Miami, Fla., and Hull Paper Co., Dayton.

Boy Scout Lore Writer, 82, Dies

MILWAUKEE (AP) — W. Ben Hunt, whose outdoor lore articles were known to Boy Scouts under the byline "Whittlin' Jim," died Monday in a hospital where he was under treatment for emphysema. He was 82.

Hunt wrote more than 18 hand-crafted books and more than 1,000 articles since the 1920s, many of them for the official Boy Scout magazine, Boys Life. He wrote Indian lore articles under the byline, "Lone Eagle."

He had lectured throughout the nation to Boy Scout groups, was guest of honor at a five-state "Ben Hunt Day" outing in 1967 and was cited several times as Milwaukee's leading Boy Scout supporter.

Prison Trustees To Receive Passes

LANSING (AP)—Prison trustees who are within four months of completing jail terms may receive weekend passes to visit their families under a plan developed by the State Corrections Commission.

Prisons director Gus Harrison said the program, an expansion of several which allow prisoners to hold outside jobs or receive emergency passes, will be limited to prisoners who already have participated in the department's "work-pass" program for 60 days or more.

A PARTY FOR engaged girls was held Monday evening at the Chamber of Commerce building and was sponsored by the Escanaba Welcome Wagon. Mrs. Richard Bryson, Welcome Wagon hostess, was in charge of arrangements for the event, the first of its kind held in the area, and she was assisted by Mrs. Jess Lavolette. The brides-to-be and their mothers or mothers-in-law, spent the evening receiving information and consultation concerning weddings and viewing the large displays of colorful wedding accessories and necessities. As they came in, each of the girls was also presented a floral corsage as pictured in the above photo (left); Gayle St. Cyr (left) receives her corsage from Gert Wellman. In the middle and right photos the girls and their mothers are shown as they admire the wide array of wedding articles displayed; from left, Paula Fleetwood, Mrs. Glenn Fleetwood, Annette Theoret, Faye Rogers and Mary Kay Bink. More parties will be held in the future and for more information, future brides may contact Mrs. Lavolette. (Daily Press Photos)

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Bertetto and son Dennis are spending the Easter week at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Peterson at Hanover Park, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth LeVigne of Alger, Mich. are visiting relatives and friends in the area.

First Bride-Elect Party Well Attended

Over 60 persons attended the first Welcome Wagon sponsored party for engaged girls Monday evening at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Brides-to-be attended with their mothers or future mothers-in-law and enjoyed an evening of information and consultation concerning weddings.

Mrs. Richard Bryson, 518 1st Ave. S., Welcome Wagon hostess, welcomed the group and spoke briefly about the Welcome Wagon service and her assistant, Mrs. Jess Lavolette presented the girls with gifts supplied by sponsoring merchants and a packet of civic information especially prepared for engaged girls.

Civic Information
The civic information included messages from the Delta County Health Dept., Michigan State University Extension, Social Security office, the Escanaba Public Library, county clerk's office and driver's license bureau.

Sponsors present for the evening were Bob Schrader, Catherine Danielson, Marjorie Snyder, Barbara Seymour, Bernadine Haddock, Aaron Stein and Shirley Wiles.

Many Displays
A wide array of colorful accessories and necessities were displayed on large tables throughout the meeting room and each girl was presented a corsage. The Welcome Wagon hostesses were also given corsages.

A wedding cake was served with other refreshments and a fresh flower centerpiece decorated the serving table. Special prizes were awarded to Faye Royer and Linda Johnson.

Items displayed for inspection by the girls included lingerie, bridal headpieces, jewelry, tuxedos, sportswear, cake decorations, napkins, invitations, cake tops, Bibles, heirloom boxes for wedding gowns, floral bouquets and many others.

Future Parties
More parties will be planned in the future and the dates will be announced. Any future bride who would like to attend may contact Mrs. Lavolette, 786-3113, for further information.

IOOF Lodges Plan Supper

Impellant Lodge 460 and Phoebe Rebekah Lodge 179, members and friends are invited to a potluck supper at 6:30 p. m. April 4 in the lodge dining room. Those attending are to bring a dish for the supper.

Mrs. Mary Pedit of Newberry, a member of the United Nations Pilgrimage Promotional committee and a student representative from that area, who was selected to make the tour in 1969, will speak during the evening. Following their talk an open discussion and question session will be held on the project.

Central WSCS Plans Church Fellowship Meet
The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Central United Methodist Church will be held Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the fellowship hall.

This will be an all church fellowship meeting and a potluck supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. Those attending are to bring a dish for the supper and their own table service.

Coffee will be furnished by the Edith Parks Circle, Mrs. Edith LaVelle, chairman. Devotions will be given by the John Wesley Circle, Mrs. Janet Boudreau, chairman.

The program for the evening, sponsored by the Christian Social Concerns committee of the Women's Society and the Church Board, Mrs. Millie Frasher and Mrs. Robert Katarincic, chairmen, respectively, will feature Judge Dean Shipman, who will speak on his probation program.

All members and friends are invited to attend.

Births
PETERSON — Attorney and Mrs. Ralph B. K. Peterson, 624 Lake Shore Drive are the parents of a daughter, Britt Ann, born at 9:04 p. m. on March 30. The infant weighed 8 pounds at birth. The mother is the former Jean Aronson.

SABOURIN — A son, the first child in the family, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sabourin, Rte. 1, Wilson at 12:45 a. m. on March 31. The infant weighed 7 pounds and 2 ounces at birth and has been named Todd David. Mrs. Sabourin was Judith Bellefeuil.

MR. AND MRS. Richard Johnson, 315 N. 14th St. announce the engagement of their daughter, Debra Lynn, to William E. Weissert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Weissert of Spalding. Debra is a 1969 graduate of Escanaba Area High School and her fiancé is a 1965 graduate of Powers - Spalding High School. He is presently employed by the Escanaba Paper Co. An Aug. 29 wedding is planned.

Men Outnumber Girls At Miami Bikini Contest

NAMPA, Idaho (AP) — Radio station KFXD, Nampa, offered on the air to give a phonograph record to any girl who showed up at the studio dressed in a bikini. Six girls did—and each got a free record.

But also showing up, station officials said, were about 1,500 men — who got nothing more than a look.

When a recipe calls for large marshmallows and there are only miniature marshmallows in the house you can do a little transposing. Just remember that one large marshmallow is the equivalent of ten miniature ones.

Births

CLOUSE — Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Clouse of Colorado Springs, Colo., are the parents of a son, Jason Wade, born Sunday, March 29. The mother is the former Kathy Sullivan and Mr. Clouse is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Clouse of Rte. 1, Gladstone.

ANDERSON — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anderson of 513 S. 13th St. are the parents of a daughter, their first child, born at 6:10 a. m. on March 31. The infant has been named Jennifer Lee and weighed 8 pounds and 6 ounces at birth. The mother was Barbara DeRoek.

American Consumer Pestimistic About Business Outlook

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The American consumer is becoming increasingly pessimistic about the outlook for business conditions, the University of Michigan Survey Research Center reported Monday.

The latest quarterly survey of consumer attitudes and expectations was based on personal interviews with a national cross-section of some 1,500 families. The surveys have been conducted regularly since 1951.

News Unfavorable

Consumer pessimism rose during the first quarter under the impact of unfavorable news about rising unemployment, sluggish sales and tight credit conditions, according to the survey.

The center's Index of Consumer Sentiment declined from 79.7 to 78.1, based on an index of 100 for February 1966.

"The proportion of American family heads expecting bad times during the next 12 months and during the next five years increased substantially during the last three months," the survey reported.

Decline Continues

The latest change marks the fourth successive quarter of decline in consumer sentiment, the survey reported, although the drop is at a much slower pace than in the previous quarters.

"Past experience suggests that following a sustained period without good news, consumer attitudes and expectations can turn around quite rapidly when significant good news finally arrives," said George Katona and Jay Schmiedeskamp, the survey directors.

"Whether the current recession in consumer discretionary purchasing will be of short duration depends on developments concerning inflation, unemployment and incomes," they added.

No Spending Increase

Unless there is good news this spring, the report said, consumers "should not be expected to increase their spending above current depressed levels. Therefore, the current findings are not inconsistent with the possibility of a more serious recession than now envisaged by most forecasters."

Three out of five consumers still believe that inflation will continue at the same or higher rate in the next 12 months as in the past 12, the survey reported.

Glimmer Of Light

For the auto industry, however, the researchers found a glimmer of light.

"Particularly with respect to compact and the new subcompact cars, the outlook is for some slight improvement over January and February sales rates, at least in terms of unit sales," the survey reported.

It added that a sizeable group of consumers has come to believe that now is a good time to buy big-ticket durable items, especially cars, because sales are slow and good buys are available.

"Consumers' opinions about buying conditions for cars and large household goods have not become less favorable during the last three months," the survey said.

Bad Time To Buy?

But, it added, the proportion of respondents saying that it is a bad time to buy these big-ticket items remains on a very high level, nearly twice as high as in May and August 1968.

The report said that consumers got the message three months ago that the administration was waging a fight against inflation and that success would require slowing down the economy with some rise in unemployment and shorter hours.

"During the last few months events have reinforced experience with and expectations about a slowdown in business," the survey reported. "The same may not be said about progress in reducing the rate of inflation, which continues to be a source of great concern to many people."

Interest Rates High

High interest rates and tight money also were factors depressing consumer sentiment, according to the report.

Regarding the outlook for a change in consumer sentiment, the report suggested that "one should not count too heavily on elimination of the income surtax to save the day, especially if before-tax incomes fail to advance rapidly."

On the other hand, the report added, a turning point might come earlier in 1970 than in 1968. It said:

"While the Index of Consumer Sentiment fell as much during the past 12 months as during 1967, a tendency toward bottoming out was noticeable during the past three months, earlier than in 1957-58."

"To be sure, sluggish consumer demand might exert an influence on other sectors of the economy, thereby further depressing employment and incomes."

Heavy Ice Slows Seaway Opening

OTTAWA (AP)—General navigation on the St. Lawrence Seaway will not begin April 1 as scheduled because of exceptionally heavy ice in the waterway, a spokesman for the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority said Monday night.

However, vessels wishing to begin downward voyages from Lake Ontario will be permitted to start April 1, the spokesman said.

Auto Industry 'To Get Word' On Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of a House subcommittee plans to confront the automobile industry next week with a demand that a more effective pollution control system be standard equipment on 1972 cars.

When his House public health subcommittee convenes hearings on auto pollution April 7, Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., will press for assurances that the industry will take advantage of the availability of lead-free gasoline by installing catalytic antipollution systems.

Such systems use a chemical catalyst to convert pollutants to harmless exhaust gases.

The lead in gasoline boosts octane ratings, but also fouls the catalytic antipollution systems. Industry spokesmen have indicated that cars designed to run on lead-free fuel can be available by late 1971.

Aides said Rogers, one of the first to call for getting the lead out of gasoline as an essential step in curbing auto pollution, doesn't want one- or two-year delay in installing catalytic systems.

He wants the equipment factory installed in 1972 cars.

Currently used antipollution devices attempt to capture pollutants and burn them off by recycling them through the car's engine. Recent testimony before Rogers' subcommittee indicated that these devices often fail to meet government exhaust emission standards.

There is general agreement catalytic systems provide the best known hope for further reductions in auto pollution from gasoline engines.

Dr. Paul F. Chenea, a General Motors vice president, told a Senate hearing that GM has supported removal of lead from gasoline "because of the need to achieve the much more stringent and desirable emission control levels of the future."

"Research shows that without lead in gasoline, long-life exhaust catalytic converters could become technically feasible. Exhaust manifold reactors and exhaust gas recirculation systems to control oxides of nitrogen also would have longer lives."

Rogers contends that such equipment is technically feasible now with use of lead-free gasoline. He plans to cite the testimony of John O. Logan, president of Universal Oil Products Co., Des Plaines, Ill., as proof that the equipment is available now.

Logan told Rogers' subcommittee that his firm has tested a catalytic system that substantially reduced emissions of carbon monoxide, unburned hydrocarbons and oxides of nitrogen. The test car was run on lead-free gasoline and the pollution control system has held up well to date—more than 70,000 miles. It was the work by Logan and other inventors in developing auto pollution control devices that eventually led to a federal investigation and an antitrust suit against car manufacturers.

Logan testified before Rogers' subcommittee that his was one of several companies to come up with antipollution devices in the early 1960s for use on cars to be sold in California. None of the devices was ever used because then the auto industry came up with its own.

A subsequent federal grand jury investigation in Los Angeles led to the government filing a civil antitrust suit alleging that the auto manufacturers had conspired to delay development of antipollution equipment.

The manufacturers denied the charge and eventually entered into an agreement with the government which the Justice Department said would ensure rapid development of antipollution equipment and maintenance of competition within the industry.

New Policy Commission Planned At MSU

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan State University President Clifton R. Wharton, Jr. said Monday a new commission is being formed at MSU to pioneer student admissions policies aimed at eventual "universal higher education."

Wharton denied that his proposals were prompted by black student demands for increased minority enrollment at the University of Michigan where a widely supported boycott severely crippled operations last week.

Noting a crisis in higher education today, the newly-appointed MSU president said inaccessibility and exclusivity of universities accounted for lack of public support and trust in the institutions.

He said a new 25-member Admissions and Study Body Commission will begin consultations by early May to determine policy on composition of the student body, proper response to pressures for equal access to higher education, total enrollment and the number of high-risk students to be admitted.

He said the commission would be composed of MSU faculty members, students, administrators and representatives of community groups. The commission proposal has already been approved by university trustees, he added.

"This approach represents a pilot attempt by a single institution to come to grips with these issues in a systematic way," said Wharton, the first Negro to become head of a major, predominantly white university in the United States.

He said he expects a final report from the commission by the winter term of 1971.

"The concept of an education as a privilege is disappearing and is being replaced by the concept of education as a right," Wharton said.

"Moreover, as more and more of the economically and educationally disadvantaged segments of our society are drawn into the wider society, they become increasingly aware of the need to secure access not merely to primary and secondary education, but to higher education as well."

He said such persons are realizing that to be uneducated is to be disenfranchised from a full life.

"At the moment, the greatest pressures for 'open admission' or universal access to higher education are coming from the black community because of its new spirit of unity and self-determination," he said.

"However, we will shortly see an equal, if not greater, pressure not only from other minority groups...but from similarly disadvantaged white Americans who comprise the largest of these groups."

He said the reform concept called for "life-long education" to replace "educational obsolescence."

"As major portions of knowledge become obsolete, the adult population who graduated 10 and 20 years ago will begin to demand that the university provide them with the opportunity to 'retool' or 'catch up' with the latest developments in a field," he said.

Wharton called for three reform steps to regain public confidence in the universities:

—Universal access to higher education.

—University participation in the transformation of the society.

—Reestablishment of a genuine concern for human values which he said have been eroded by specialization and impersonal bureaucracies.

He outlined only his ideas on the first step, but promised to develop the remaining topics at speeches later this week at Wayne State University and at MSU.

A young American woman spent three years of studying wild mountain gorillas in Africa and concluded that the gorilla is one of the most maligned animals in the world. Beneath their fierce appearance lies a shy and gentle nature, Dian Fossey believes.

Ability To Say No One Key To Safe Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The ability to say no is one of the keys to a safe life, as well as a long and happy one.

The wise person learns early that he must pick and choose as to what he does and where he goes. If he does everything everybody asks him to, he is certain to wind up behind the 8-ball or missing from the scene altogether.

Here, for example, are some invitations that usually lead only to trouble, embarrassment, or disaster:

"Why don't we have our picnic here? The odds are only about one in 20 that those vines are poison ivy."

"You've never heard Beethoven's 'Moonlight Sonata' blown on a trumpet? Would you like to have my son play it for you?"

"Go ahead and call his bluff. He probably only has a lousy pair of deuces."

"No, it's not exactly tobacco. But roll some into a cigarette, and I'll tell you later what it is. After all, you do trust me, don't you?"

"How about trying this new wonder drug my doctor prescribed for me? It does cause some people to break out with the hives, but that's fairly rare."

"Suppose you park here. I know it's in a no-parking zone, but surely the cops won't haul away your car if we're only in the store for 10 minutes."

"If you back out now, aren't you afraid everyone will call you chicken?"

"You've seen how pretty my gal is. Well, her cousin is in town this week. How about the four of us going out on the town tomorrow night?"

"Would you care to know what I'd do about Vietnam if I were in the White House?"

"I'm afraid I made your martini a bit weak. Shall I put in another cup of gin?"

"For a guy who was never on a pair of skis until two weeks ago, you're doing famously. Want to try this slope? It's supposed to be toughest this side of Sun Valley."

"These marshmallow pancakes are made from a secret recipe in my wife's family. She'll think you don't like her cooking unless you eat at least half a dozen."

"If he invites you to step outside and settle it, go ahead. I'll be right behind you."

"Double or nothing?"

"It's only 175 yards or less across the lake. Why don't you be a sport and show you can make it with a No. 5 iron?"

"Why don't you just buy it now and pay later?"

"What if you are broke? I've got a red-hot tip this stock will go up 40 points by the end of the month. Let's both go for a couple hundred shares. We can borrow at the bank."

LANSING (AP)—Microscope history—from antique models of 1765 to more modern versions—is on display at the Michigan State University Library, compliments of Dr. Ronald Wilkinson. Wilkinson, a bibliographer for special collections, says microscopes, developed at the beginning of the 17th Century, were an important factor in the development of the biological sciences. His collection includes an English "Culpeper" microscope circa 1765.

Broad Crime Control Program Proposed In Report To UPCAP

A broad, 24-point program in five major areas of concentration has been proposed for the Upper Peninsula to cope with a rising crime rate in the area.

The program was proposed by EBS Management Consultants, Inc., report, "Michigan Region 11 Comprehensive Law Enforcement Plan," done for the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress (UPCAP).

The study and report on crime and law enforcement in the U. P. was financed by a grant to UPCAP from the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice. Crime in the region has not reached the magnitude it has attained in urban areas, but it is on the increase and the problems faced by law enforcement agencies are mounting rapidly, the report said, and the region's law enforcement structure is not equipped to meet the situation.

The broad program recommendations include:

- Crime Prevention—extension of vocational training; strengthening of school guidance and counseling; creation of a State Department of Youth Services; development of a school curriculum that will better promote understanding of law and law enforcement; development of channels for contact with young people, such as youth centers; expansion of community facilities for recreation, and reconsideration of drinking age requirements.

- Police Services and Public Protection—upgrading of qualifications for law enforcement personnel; upgrade the wage-benefit system for personnel; institute personnel training programs, both pre-service and in-service; improve facilities and equipment; improve coordination among law enforcement agencies; consolidate city and county police departments;

- Juvenile Management—pre-service and in-service training for personnel working on juvenile programs; juvenile detention facilities; upgrade qualifications, wages and benefits of personnel;

- Administration of Justice—a thorough inventory of the justice system; develop greater understanding of the justice system by youth and adults; institute a public defender system; provide more training for justice personnel; raise the salary and qualification of probate judges and county prosecutors;

- Corrections and Rehabilitation—provide a community corrections center (halfway house); provide probation services to misdemeanants; provide district courts with units to investigate the background and personal character of misdemeanants.

The report emphasized that the programs cover a wide range of problems and that all of the recommendations cannot be implemented immediately, but that local agencies along with the Regional Law Enforcement Planning Council should work to set up a scale of priorities on at least some of the projects as soon as possible.

Robert Bilgen of Marquette, former State Police commander in the U. P., has been hired by UPCAP to provide the Regional Council and local agencies with technical assistance in planning projects and in applying for financial assistance under the federal Omnibus Crime Act.

Federal funds are available, the report says, but in most instances local matching funds are necessary.

"One of the most painfully felt needs in the Peninsula is for a juvenile detention facility," according to an UPCAP prepared summary of the total report. "At present, juveniles are either treated by the limited facilities available and then released, or are put in city or county jails or are sent out of the region to a State Juvenile facility."

The report said that although the overall picture in the U. P. is not heartening, crime has not reached the flood-tide and that "many of the principal and characteristic causes of juvenile delinquency are not physically evident in the U. P. The region is not faced, for example, with the metropolitan programs of inner-city ghettos."

The fact that crime has not reached the critical point, the report says, gives the Upper Peninsula an opportunity at prevention that may not exist in another decade.

In its analysis of Upper Peninsula crime, the EBS staff identified a number of trends in the 1963-68 period:

1. Persons apprehended for major offenses have increased by 38 per cent;
2. Within the 10-16 age group, overall apprehensions have increased by 52 per cent;
3. The 17-21 age group apprehensions showed a combined (urban-rural) increase of 61 per cent;

4. The total apprehensions for the 22-49 age category increased slightly (13 per cent);

5. Of the total apprehensions in the region, urban apprehensions have increased 56 per cent, while rural apprehensions are up 23 per cent;

6. Of total apprehensions for all age groups, the 10-21 age category comprised about 63 per cent;

7. Of the total major offenses committed and reported in 1968, the most prevalent offenses were larceny (misdemeanor and felony), burglary, aggravated assault and auto theft. These four offenses comprised over 99 per cent of the major offenses in the region in 1968.

The report said that although adequate steps are not being taken to prevent a further growth in the crime rate, this is not due to lack of will or effort on the part of law enforcement personnel.

"The majority of Upper Peninsula departments appear to be doing the best job possible under the current restraints of manpower shortages, non-competitive salary schedules and lack of training," said UPCAP.

"Latest available statistics (1967) showed a yearly expenditure of $2,112,959 for the 15-county area," said the EBS report. "The man police costs per capita, by county, ranged from $1.98 to $4.59. The high of $4.59 is far below the state average of $14.28 per capita. Efficiency and effectiveness are not necessarily associated with generous budgets, but it is felt that if local departments were properly financed better law enforcement could be provided. Training should not be considered a 'luxury item' in a department budget, for example, which in some areas it is. Adequate quarters for personnel and equipment should be automatic provisions—these are not in many areas."

Inadequacies also are found in services aimed at youth and misdemeanants, the report continued, and "local governments are not totally cognizant of the juvenile-related problems and, consequently, are providing limited appropriations to assist in rectifying the current situation."

Inkster Man Ruled Eligible For City Post

DETROIT (AP) — Federal Judge Ralph Freeman ruled Monday that the name of a 26-year-old Inkster man must be returned to the city council ballot because the municipal character's property ownership requirement for candidacy is unconstitutional.

Rolland Stapleton was declared ineligible to run for council on March 13, when the election commission ruled that the property owner clause prohibited him from becoming a candidate.

Stapleton said he owned no property in Inkster because he made his residence there with his mother for the past 10 years. The charter requires that a potential candidate own property in Inkster for at least two years prior for any elective position.

Judge Freeman accepted the city's interpretation that the word "property" in the charter referred to real estate ownership, but held that such a requirement violated the "equal protection of the law" clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

A law clerk in Freeman's office said several other Michigan communities had similar property requirements, and that the ruling could have far-reaching effects. He said Freeman's ruling might also apply to school board membership.

Stapleton will now be allowed to run in the April 6 non-partisan primary. "We've been carrying on with the campaign as though we expected to win the suit and we did. We haven't been just sitting around," he said.

Stapleton was an unsuccessful candidate for Wayne County board of supervisors in August 1968 and was formerly a staff aide to Michigan Congressman William D. Ford. He is now a cost estimator for Wire and Iron Products, Inc. of Detroit.

He said he did not think that personality conflicts or political interests were involved in the attempt to bar him from being a candidate in Inkster.

Charley Morse, a Michigan State sophomore, fought off a childhood polio attack which left him with crippled legs. He's now a star gymnast.

that they were concerned that black students had to "call and maintain a strike in order to get the university to agree to what appeared to them as just and reasonable demands."

Senator Angry

State Senator George W. Kuhn, R-Birmingham, said in a telegram to president Fleming that the strike was a disgrace and that "it is unbelievable that a small band of militant students could bring to its knees one of the nation's great universities."

Kuhn said that a Senate committee probing campus unrest decided last Thursday to "look into the University of Michigan situation and specifically the SDS (Students for a Democratic Society) involvement."

"Threats, intimidation and blackmail tactics to win excessive and unreasonable demands are unAmerican," said Kuhn.

Two Ann Arbor legislators sent a letter to Fleming Monday that demanded a public explanation of his actions in regards to student demonstrators. Raymond J. Smit, Republican representative said he was joined by Republican Senator Gilbert Bursley in his request. They complained of a lack of "hard facts in press reports coming from the university and the conduct of secret meetings" as behind the letter.

Agrees With Plan

William B. Cudlip a Grosse Pointe regent of the university said Monday night that the move by Fleming to "assure" a ten per cent black enrollment is fine "if they can find the money." He said the regents tried to find money to raise the percentage at the March 19th meeting and could only add funding for 4 per cent additional black student enrollment to the 3 per cent presently at the Ann Arbor campus.

Cudlip said "these are fine ideals, but we can't do everything that needs to be done in the United States overnight. You have to keep your cool, and some people are asking for the impossible."

Money Not Available

"If we have the money to aid more disadvantaged students fine, but without the money—and I don't see it at this time—we can't do any more than the 7 per cent total we promised at the March 19th board meeting," said Goebel.

Both regents said that the funds Fleming and departmental heads found to bring "assurances" of a ten per cent level last Thursday would have to come from within the present budget. Cudlip suggested that some of the faculty might be thinking of salary cuts. Neither regent could see anyplace in the tight University of Michigan budget for any more tightening up without elimination of some programs or services.

Mrs. Kemit Bender and Mrs. Robert E. Meyer were in charge of dinner arrangements. Conrad D. Beck, president of the local association, told the workers of the need for professionally fine music in the county, endorsed by Mrs. Paula Hurley, co-chairman. Mrs. Dale Flynn is chairman of the membership campaign.

Mrs. George Embs, formerly a teacher of string music in the Escanaba Area Public Schools, as was her father the late Frank Karas, urged the workers to help keep professional music alive in the community.

A varied program of three attractions is being secured for the 1970-71 season, consisting of the Tucson Arizona Boys Chorus, Delores Hodgins and Samuel Howard, duo-pianists, and the New York Lyric Quartet whose direction and arrangements are by the famed Robert McCormier.

A fourth concert will be selected at the close of the membership campaign next Saturday, April 4.

The Delta County Community Concert Association is a non-profit organization, one of more than 800 associations in America staffed by volunteers, which bring fine artists to the community by membership subscription.

Anyone—adult or student—may become a member. Interested persons who are not contacted by one of the workers are invited to visit the campaign headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce building or phone 786-5657. Office hours are 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

All concerts will be held in the William Oliver Memorial Auditorium, and reciprocal arrangements are held with the concert associations of Marinette, Menominee, Iron Mountain, Iron River and Marquette.

Israelis Smash Red-Built Bases

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes attacked two surface to air missile sites in Egypt's northern Nile Delta today, the Israeli military command announced.

The planes hit two Soviet-built SA2 rocket bases near Mansoura, 78 miles north of Cairo, and returned safely, a spokesman said.

It was the first deep penetration into Egypt reported by Israel in eight days. The last raid was against radar bases in the delta on March 23.

Israeli planes hit SA2 missile sites at Mansoura on March 13. The spokesman stressed that the missiles hit today were not the controversial SA3 Soviet rockets said to have been recently supplied to Egypt complete with Soviet technicians.

Israeli planes also attacked Egyptian war targets on the southern and central sectors of the Suez Canal, returning unharmed after a 10-minute sortie, the spokesman said.

In Lebanon, the Beirut newspaper Al Nahar said today that Iraq plans to send another division to boost its troops facing Israel along the Jordan River front.

The fresh troops will include Kurdish soldiers, the paper said. The Iraqi government recently signed a peace agreement with the Kurds after nine years of civil war.

In combat action, the Syrian military command in Damascus said its forces rocketed and destroyed two Israeli positions in the Golan Heights on Monday. A spokesman said the targets were positions at Rafid and Ka-laa west of the cease-fire line.

A prominent Israeli newspaper charged today that Syria was ignoring Israeli warnings and was continuing to heat up the cease-fire line.

"The Syrians apparently forget that their defense lines are shaky, and that they are not capable of preventing a response by the Israeli army," said Maariv.

The newspaper added that Israel has warned Syria through the United Nations and other diplomatic channels to observe the cease-fire.

Le Duan Likely N. Vietnam Chief

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

North Vietnam's Communists appear to have just gone through a political crisis over the party's leadership, and the outcome can have important meaning for all of Indochina.

The pro-Chinese element seems to be the loser and even to be threatened by a purge if it fails to submit. Le Duan, first secretary of the Laodong (workers) party, apparently is now the strongest figure among the heirs of Ho Chi Minh, and "first among equals" in the Hanoi leadership.

More Russ Leverage?

The prospect thus is for more leverage for the Soviet Union in Hanoi and a decisive role, should Moscow choose one day to occupy it, in shaping the future of war-ridden Indochina.

The suggestion of an inner party struggle seemed clear in the way Pravda, the Soviet Communist newspaper, treated an article by Le Duan published in Hanoi to mark the North Vietnamese party's 40th anniversary. Pravda reprinted excerpts at great length and in a position reserved for the most important of political articles.

Hinting at a purge of dissidents, Le Duan said that in line with Ho's last testament, "our party has decided to guard unity as the apple of its eye; our party never will tolerate any sort of evidence of factionalism; our party considers separatism and factionalism in the party the heaviest crimes against the revolution."

Ruled By Collective

The party, he wrote, is ruled by a collective because "one man, however prominent his qualities, cannot understand everything, cannot know about all matters." Only "collective wisdom," he wrote, could avoid "subjectivism," the sin Moscow attributed to Nikita Khrushchev. That sin, committed by one-man rulers, "leads to mistakes and consequences which are sometimes dangerous," Le Duan wrote.

Now 61, Le Duan was one of Ho's earliest revolutionary associates. He long served Ho as an expert on relations with foreign Communists. Early in the Soviet-Chinese quarrel Duan seemed to try to steer a middle course, but now he evidently is wholly with the Russians, from whom come economic and military goods to sustain Hanoi in its wars with South Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and the Americans.

Chinese Element Silenced

The Pravda treatment suggests, at the least, that the pro-Chinese element in Hanoi now is effectively silenced. Le Duan's article, as excerpted by Pravda, goes directly from the discussion of sins in the party and the hints of reprisals to talk about world "socialism."

"Sharp, tense class war, developing now in all the world, demands the strengthening of unity in the Socialist camp and in the international Communist and workers' movement on the basis of Marxism-Leninism and proletarian internationalism," said Le Duan. "Only in such a way can world revolutionary forces unite again in the struggle against imperialism."

That is the way Pravda would view the matter itself, and it leaves no doubt that Le Duan concedes the right of the Soviet Union to call the tune in the international Communist camp.

As the legendary birthplace of the god, Apollo, and the moon goddess, Artemis, the island of Delos became one of the most important places in Greece. It was considered so hallowed that no one could be born, die or be buried on it. The aged, ill and expectant were taken across a narrow channel to another island, Rhenea.

Mabel Schramm Dies On Monday

Mabel Schramm, 75, of Rapid River died at 11:30 a. m. Monday at the Medi-Center where she had been a patient for one month.

She was born Jan. 25, 1895 in Rapid River and was a life long resident. She was a retired employee of Jack's Restaurant in Rapid River.

Survivors include one brother, Charles Schramm of Rapid River; and three nieces, Frances Anderson and Muriel Yelle of Little Lake and Linda Schramm of Rapid River.

Friends may call from 7 to 9 p. m. today at the Skardski Funeral Home, and the body will be removed to the Calvary Lutheran Church of Rapid River at 1 p. m. Wednesday where funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. The Rev. George Olson will officiate and burial will be in Rapid River Cemetery.

Confusion Reigns In Air Traffic Rift

NEW YORK (AP) — The six-day slowdown by air controllers has confronted the traveler not only with nerve-wracking delays but confusion over statements made by the two sides.

One of the principal arguments has been over safety.

The Federal Aviation Administration said it was not stinting on safety regulations in its confrontation with the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization (PATCO). Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe insisted: "We do not intend to sacrifice safety at any time."

Intolerable Burden

However, PATCO claimed overwork and fatigue had placed an intolerable burden on nonstriking controllers and contended: "The issue is no longer fatigue by traffic controllers but safety."

In a telegram to President Nixon urging mediation of the dispute over wages and working conditions, a group representing Trans World Airline pilots declared:

"Workload imposed on remaining controllers by long hours, unfamiliar and expanded sectors and reduced staffing now have an adverse effect on those people with increasing likelihood of possible tragic mistakes."

Public Mised

"Statements by the FAA authorities that there is no degradation in safety are without merit and are a disgraceful attempt to mislead the traveling public."

Since the slowdown began last Wednesday, PATCO claimed, there have been at least three near collisions in the skies—an assertion which the FAA has denied. There have been no serious airline accidents during that period.

Because of the situation, airlines have reduced the number of flights and the FAA has limited air traffic.

System Flexible

"The system is flexible," said an FAA spokesman. "We won't allow an airplane to go into an area unless there are controllers there to handle it."

Thousands of delays and cancellations have occurred. At one point over the weekend, the FAA for safety reasons ordered a 50 per cent cut in the number of flights to New York and Chicago, the nation's two busiest air centers.

"When you lose New York, you lose the kingdom," said Don Byers, an FAA spokesman. "Minneapolis has only 16 per cent of its normal force, but the situation is greatly alleviated because you have air space to route around. If you are headed to New York, there isn't anything you can do."

Figures Differ

The FAA reported on the first day of the slowdown that only 17 per cent of the controllers were off the job, and dropped the figure to 14 per cent on Thursday.

In response, F. Lee Bailey, attorney and executive director of PATCO, displayed a map listing virtually all major air traffic lanes and all 21 air route traffic control centers as danger zones because of inadequate staffing.

On Friday, Volpe said in a statement that a massive walk-out had not occurred and declared: "While there has been some dislocation of schedules, the heavy volume of Easter weekend air traffic is being moved reasonably well—and it is being moved safely."

Absenteeism High

The FAA estimated at that time that air controller absenteeism ranged from 20 to 25 per cent. On day shifts at the 21 traffic control centers, 1,213 men of a normal force of 1,625 showed up. Figures for controllers in airport control towers were not available.

"The system is severely impaired, unsafe and in some particular areas, various facilities are all but closed," the union retorted, claiming 2,000 of its 7,500 members were off the job.

By Saturday night, Bailey was contending that 3,800 controllers were out. He declared: "There has been a decided expansion of the trend in the last 24 hours and I predict it will skyrocket."

Walkout Proposed

But FAA Administrator Joseph H. Shaffer said Bailey's call "for a massive walkout by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization has fallen on deaf ears."

Meanwhile, on Saturday, the Air Transport Association, representing the nation's airlines, threatened a suit against PATCO, alleging an illegal strike and saying the airlines "have been incurring millions of dollars of extra costs because they have had to cancel flights, reschedule flights and pay heavy overtime charges."

However, 24 hours later, ATA President Stuart G. Tipton asserted: "While there have been some cancelled flights and numerous delays, the airlines have been able to operate more than 90 per cent of all domestic scheduled flights so that the flying public might enjoy their Easter holiday."

Ice May Delay Opening At Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE—Cold weather and heavy ice which already have caused two freighters to be stuck in the Straits of Mackinac, may hamper or even delay the scheduled Wednesday opening of navigation here.

The Coast Guard Icebreaker Mackinaw was busy trying to keep ship traffic moving and still be at de Tour Passage Tuesday to open the St. Marys River channel system.

Earlier Monday, the Mackinaw moved a cement freighter, the S. T. Crapo, from an ice field near the Garden Island Shoals, just north of Beaver Island, where she had been stuck during the weekend.

Then the Mackinaw was called back to Lake Huron to free the Canadian Freighter Frank A. Sherman from an ice field off the entrance to the Cheboygan, Mich., harbor. The Mackinaw is expected to work the St. Marys River ice Tuesday and be in the Soo Wednesday to start ships into Whitefish Bay, where ice fields are reported to be 27 inches thick.

The Whitefish Bay ice field extends into Lake Superior as far north as Caribou Island. Vessels arriving here to assist the Mackinaw are the Arundel, from Chicago, the Woodrush, from Duluth, and the Naugatuck from the Soo.

These vessels will be on hand to assist about 24 freighters expected to be in the Soo during the first two days of navigation.

Juvenile Court Seminar Slated

MARQUETTE — The first of six Upper Peninsula Juvenile Court Seminars will be held at Northern Michigan University Thursday and Friday, April 2-3.

These seminars, to be conducted under the auspices of the Michigan Supreme Court, Office of the Court Administrator, are made possible by a grant from the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

Children's Charter of the Courts of Michigan, Inc., and its affiliate, the Western Michigan University Center for Children's Court Services, are providing consultation and assistance in presenting the seminars.

Chairman for the seminar at Northern is Michael F. DeFanti, probate judge, Marquette County. The main speakers throughout the two-day session will be Boyd Baird, probate judge, Ontonagon County and John Namey, probate judge, Muskegon County. Representatives of the Michigan State Police, the Bureau of Group Care Services and the Department of Social Services will serve on the discussion panels.

Registration for the seminar at Northern will take place at 9 a. m., Thursday. The seminar will adjourn at 3:30 p. m., Friday.

Anti-Pollution Bill Would OK Citizen Suits

LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken called today for prompt legislative passage of a wide-ranging antipollution bill which would allow citizens to sue industry or the state for polluting "air, water or other natural resources."

Speaking of the proposed "environmental quality act of 1970" now awaiting preliminary debate in the House, Milliken said "I not only endorse this bill but I intend to fight for its passage. It is a priority item."

The bill recently was reported out of the House Conservation Committee on a bipartisan 11-1 vote after adoption of a substitute measure written by Milliken's legal advisor, Joseph Thibodeau.

Warning that the bill "certainly will not be the total answer to all our environmental problems," Milliken said:

"It provides us with a unique opportunity to take an effective step forward in the protection of our environment (and) to bring together sincere, bipartisan effort in doing so."

Passage of the bill, Milliken added, gives Michigan "the opportunity, if we move quickly, of becoming a model state in the nationwide fight against pollution."

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce, automobile manufacturers and numerous mining and chemical processors protested vigorously against the measure when it was discussed at public hearings around the state.

State Supervisors To Finish Course In Escanaba

Fifteen supervisors representing state agencies in the Upper Peninsula will complete a management development course in Escanaba on April 6.

The class has met Monday mornings for the past 10 weeks at conference facilities in the State Office Building.

The course was co-sponsored by the public services division of Northern Michigan University, the Michigan Department of Civil Service and participating agencies. William Van Kosky, NMU management consultant, was the conference leader.

Included in the course were sessions on leadership, wise use of authority, human relations, measuring and improving performance, planning and delegation. This is the 10th in a continuing series of management development programs that Northern has presented for state civil service agencies since 1966. The Escanaba class will bring to 239 the number of supervisors who have completed the course to date.

Members of the class include: James Archambeau, highway sign foreman, Dept. of State Highways; Lawrence Curran, director, Delta County, Dept. of Social Services; Gary Curtin, field representative, Dept. of Social Services; Ralph Dollhopf, highway constructive aide, Dept. of State Highways; Joseph Goudreau, civil engineer 2, Dept. of State Highways; William Jewell, assistant field representative, Dept. of Social Services; and Norman Remington, plant industry inspector, Dept. of Agriculture, all of the Escanaba area.

Motorist, 25, Slightly Hurt

Roger A. Nelson, 25, of Rte. 1, Rapid River, was treated for minor injuries at St. Francis Hospital and released after a three-car accident on M 35 just south of County Rd. 446 in Brampton Township Saturday night.

State Police said Nelson's car collided with a car which was stalled on the highway. Officers said Dorothy Spevacek, 45, Brampton, backed her car out of a driveway onto the highway, but the transmission locked and she was unable to move it.

The Spevacek auto was first hit by a car driven by Victoria LaFave, 18, of 621 Michigan Ave., and about 10 minutes later by Nelson's car. Neither of the two women were injured, officers said. Nelson was ticketed for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Francis Bauknecht Claimed By Death

Francis A. (Hutch) Bauknecht of 2917 School St., Two Rivers, Wis., died unexpectedly early Thursday, March 12, while vacationing with his wife at Sun City, Ariz.

He had been district sales manager of Mobil Oil Co. for the past 35 years, retiring Sept. 1, 1969. He lived and worked some of his years in Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jungles and family of Cornell attended the funeral services.

Death Claims Roy Bauerle

Roy Bauerle, 69, of Rte. 2 Rapid River (Whitefish Hall) died suddenly late Monday afternoon at his home after suffering a heart attack.

He was born May 28, 1900 in Detroit and was a retired pipe fitter for Nicholson Dodes of Detroit.

He is survived by his widow, Jean; three sons, Donald of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Elwood of Lincoln Park and Marlin of River View; two daughters, Mrs. George (Evelyn) Armstrong of Flat Rock, Mich., and Mrs. Norman (Thelma) Annons of Wyandotte; 22 grandchildren, five great grandchildren; one brother, George of Lower Michigan and one sister, Mrs. Arthur Boyer of Wyandotte.

The body will be taken to the Bobbean Funeral Home in Flat Rock where funeral services will be conducted. Burial will be in the Michigan Memorial Cemetery, Flat Rock.

No Life Term For GI 'Killer'

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — A military court sentenced a young U.S. Army officer today to six months' confinement and a $1,500 fine for the death of a Vietnamese prisoner of war. Two days ago he faced life imprisonment.

First Lt. James B. Duffy, 23, of Claremont, Calif., was found guilty Sunday of premeditated murder, but the eight-man court voted to reconsider its verdict when it found out the murder conviction carried a mandatory life sentence.

On Monday the court convicted Duffy of two lesser counts: involuntary manslaughter and conspiracy to commit manslaughter.

The court called for payment of the fine in installments of $250 a month.

Duffy could have drawn a maximum of six years on the manslaughter charges—three years on each count. Higher authorities in Vietnam and Washington will now review the verdict and the sentence and could reduce them.

Duffy's platoon captured the prisoner in the Mekong Delta last Sept. 5. One of Duffy's men, Sgt. John R. Lanasa of Baton Rouge, La., is accused of doing the shooting after Duffy told him he could "do what you want with the prisoner."

Duffy heard the sentence with no outward display of emotion. He smiled briefly at newsmen outside the courtroom but ignored their questions as he was escorted to a nearby military police station.

College Given Nursing Grant

A $134,558 Manpower Development and Training Act grant to Bay de Noc Community College to train licensed practical nurses was announced today in Washington, D. C. by Congressman Philip Ruppe (R-Michigan).

Bay College officials said the funds will finance a 50-week training program for 30 students. The program started Feb. 23 and will continue until Feb. 5, 1971.

Peninsula Deer Survive Winter

MARQUETTE — The Upper Peninsula's deer herd is expected to come through the winter of 1969-'70 in much better condition than a year ago but woods conditions could take a sizeable toll of the animals.

Conservation officials say that the winter has not posed unusual hardships. Snow depths were not as great as last winter, although colder weather kept deer from ranging far for food sources.

Laotians Gain Deserted Base

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian government forces have recaptured the Sam Thong base site abandoned to the North Vietnamese on March 18, military informants said today.

The government broadcast an appeal to refugees to return to the nearly deserted town in a valley 90 miles north of Vientiane. But informed sources cautioned that the situation was still precarious.

"Sam Thong is like a yo-yo," said one source. "It could change hands more times than a counterfeit penny. What counts is not who's in the town but who controls the hills around it."

Until its 6,000 inhabitants were evacuated two weeks ago, Sam Thong was the main air supply depot and relief center for some 350,000 Meo tribesmen and other minorities in north central Laos.

If the government troops can hold Sam Thong, it would boost the morale of Gen. Vang Pao's American-supported army of Meo guerrillas now embroiled in ground fighting against the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao.

Judges Can Remove Disorderly: Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today the right of trial judges to remove disorderly, disruptive and disrespectful defendants from the courtroom.

The recent highly publicized trial of eight persons accused of conspiring to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago was disrupted repeatedly. At its end, all the remaining defendants were sentenced for contempt of court by Judge Julius G. Hoffman.

One of the original defendants, Bobby G. Seale, was bound and gagged for a time before a mistrial was declared in his case.

The ruling, however, came in an otherwise routine holdup case in Chicago involving a man named William Allen.

The ruling meets the argument that the presence of noisy defendants must be tolerated at their trials because they have a constitutional right to confront their accusers.

Backers of that argument—rejected by the Supreme Court—have contended that the constitutional right can be observed only by having the defendants present and unshackled during their trials.

The Allen and riot cases are connected in that Judge Hoffman relied on an appeals court ruling in the Allen case to bind and gag Seale, who later was sentenced to four years in prison for contempt.

Black, in announcing the decision from the bench, said, "the courts can't deny him (Allen) a fair trial; he was trying to deny the courts their function."

The justice said the trial judge "conducted himself as a judge should."

E. Derwin Sr., Dies Suddenly

MANISTIQUE — Ernest J. Derwin, Sr., 71, of Rte. 1, Manistique died suddenly at 3:10 a.m. today at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for one day.

He was born Aug. 18, 1898 in Engadine and had spent most of his life in the Germfask and Manistique areas. He had resided in Manistique since 1947.

Mr. Derwin was employed as a Michigan Conservation officer for 35 years and had served in the Manistique area. He retired in October of 1967. He was married to the former Josephine Vallier, Oct. 24, 1923 and was a member of St. Francis de Sales Church and the Manistique K of C, 2026.

He is survived by his widow; one son, Ernest J. Derwin, Jr. of Manistique; one stepson, Marvin Vallier of Gulliver; 12 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Messier-Broulliere Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Wednesday and the K. of C. Rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. Parish prayers will be recited at 8 p.m. Complete funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Francis de Sales Church and burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Shawl and Pam Casey, all of Bay City visited for the Easter weekend at the Norman Casey home in Fairport.

Mrs. John Halvorson and Mrs. William Ward Sr. of Vans Harbor have left for Lansing where they will take their State LPN exams.

C&O Permitted To Cut 2 Trains

LANSING (AP) — The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad was authorized today to discontinue two night passenger trains between Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids.

The State Public Service Commission said continued operation of the trains "would constitute an undue financial hardship" on the railroad.

If it wishes, the railroad may discontinue the two trains three days after receiving the commission's order.

The railroad testified at a public hearing a week ago that it has been losing more than $400 a day on the trains since the Post Office stopped using them to transport mail. The mail transport stopped at the end of 1969.

The railroad testified it would lose some $134,000 this year on the trains, which carried an average of two passengers daily in the first nine months of 1969.

Winter-Flavored Spring Continues

Snow piled up in half a dozen states from the Rockies to the central plains today as still another winter-flavored spring storm swirled out of the West.

Unseasonable cold covered much of the nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic, and a chilly rain extended along a large part of the eastern seaboard.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for mountain areas and eastern portions of Colorado and for parts of Arizona, where Flagstaff was blanketed by 6 inches during the night.

Travelers' warnings were out in sections of Colorado, Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico, Kansas and Nebraska. Up to 2 inches of snow coated the warning areas.

Gov. Milliken Confident He Can Win Again

LANSING AP — A grinning Gov. William Milliken shrugged off questions today about possible Democratic opponents in the governor's race this fall—but said it was "very unlikely" he'd be defeated.

Milliken, who has yet to announce his own candidacy and appears to delight in telling newsmen "If I were to become a candidate..." was asked for comments on the Democratic field of contestants—now numbering three.

State Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley, a former state Democratic party chairman, officially entered the race Monday. Already announced as gubernatorial candidates were former State Party Chairman Zolton Ferency, once defeated by former Gov. George Romney, and House Majority Floor Leader George F. Montgomery of Detroit.

"I'll have more to say about that later," Milliken said at a news conference.

Asked if he thought one of the Democrats could beat William Milliken, the governor said:

"No candidate, if he is in fact a candidate, is unbeatable (Democratic U.S. Sen.) Phil Hart is not unbeatable."

"Bill Milliken could be beaten if he becomes a candidate."

"It's very unlikely," Milliken added with a broad grin.

Milliken, still refusing to speak of himself as a definite candidate, promised a "lively campaign" and said he would "have more to say about the ground rules of the campaign later."

Senate Leader To Tour Deer Yard In U. P.

State Sen. Gordon Rockwell (R-Mt. Morris), chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, will inspect deer yards in Dickinson County Friday.

Roland Juchemich Jr., Ne-gaunee, president of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association, said Rockwell will be escorted on tours of deer yards in the Sagola area by members of the United Sportsmen's Club of Dickinson County. Juchemich will accompany the group.

Rockwell's committee now is considering proposals for a moratorium on antlerless deer hunting in the Upper Peninsula.

Juchemich appeared before the committee last week to explain his association's opposition to the Department of Natural Resources program for hunting does and fawns.

Willard Musolf, Oscoda, president of the Michigan Deer Hunters Association, also appeared before the committee on behalf of his group, which has campaigned against antlerless deer hunting.

Bucks Blast 76ers; Take Playoff Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks tore up the Philadelphia 76ers, thanks to a conversation between coach Larry Costello and guard Flynn Robinson.

The Bucks broke four National Basketball Association records as they buried the 76ers Monday night 156-120. Milwaukee now leads the best of seven Eastern semifinal series 2-1, with the fourth game here Wednesday night.

While Robinson and his Milwaukee mates were shooting 60.9 per cent from the field against the 76ers sleep walking defenders other NBA playoff rivals rested for games to night. New York, leading 2-1, is at Baltimore against the Bulls in the other Eastern semifinal, while Atlanta carries a 2-0 advantage into Chicago against the Bulls.

Robinson, the 6-foot-1 guard, had been eaten alive in the first two 76ers-Bucks playoff games by Philadelphia's tough guarding Wally Jones. A 21-point-per-game scorer during the regular season, Robinson had been held to 17 points and was three for 17 from the field in last week's pair of games at Madison, Wis.

Costello called in his four-year veteran and told him, "Go out and play your game. Stop worrying about Wally Jones. Look for the open man. Don't battle Jones one on one."

Robinson listened. He still had Jones bumping and blocking but this time he fed the ball to the open man. He passed to Jon McGlocklin and Lew Alcindor as Milwaukee raced to a 40-14 first period edge. The Bucks held 77-41 at halftime. It was all over but the final score.

"We just came out and moved the ball," said Robinson. "The guys took the open shots and played good defense at the start, something we didn't do in the other games. I felt better. The groin muscle pull I had didn't bother me tonight (Monday). I came out moving and kept moving."

Robinson scored 20 points, but more important to the Bucks he handed out 14 assists. Alcindor tallied 33, grabbed 17 rebounds and contributed three assists in 33 minutes of action. He sat out the last 14 minutes as the Bucks zoomed to a 124-72 lead after three quarters.

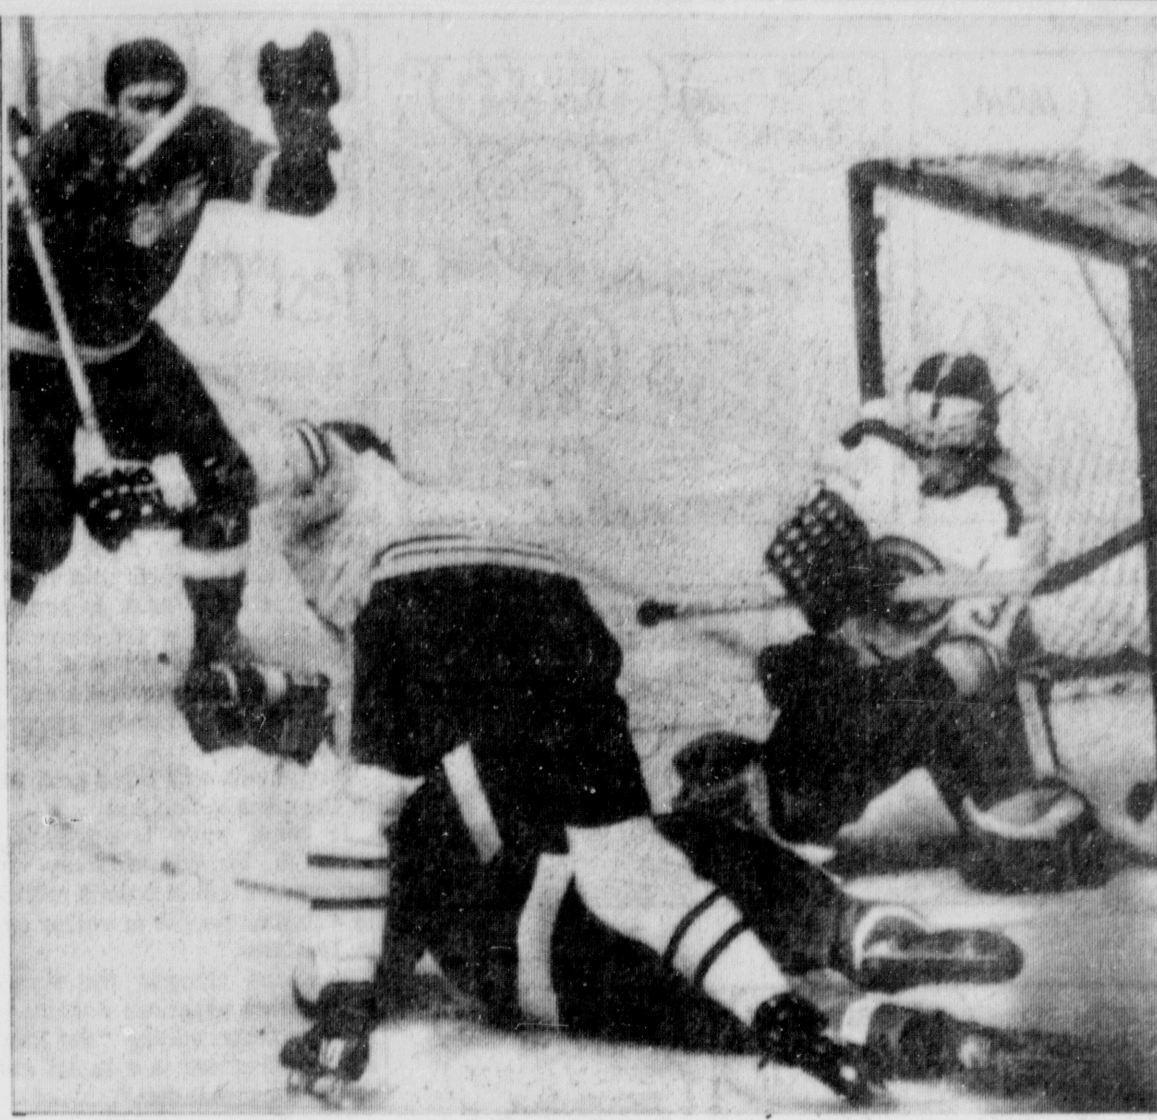

McGlocklin, who scored 24 points, was 8-10 from the field and Alcindor 11-14 in the first half. Milwaukee shot 64 per cent in the first two periods. Philadelphia managed only three field goals in the last 8:16 of the opening period as it was outscored 30-6.

The Bucks set NBA playoff records for points scored (156), most field goals (67), most assists (46) and most field goals in a half (35).

The two teams set playoff records of most points (276), most field goals (119), most points in a half (158) and most field goals in a half (69).

Philadelphia coach Jack Ramsay said his team played a poor game. "We failed to apply pressure. We weren't aggressive and tenacious as we have to be. We gave them their kind of shots early and then had to play catch up. We've got to come back Wednesday and play tough enough defense to keep them from playing their offensive game."

Archie Clark led the 76ers with 20 points, playing 28 minutes. Clark and his coach had argued heatedly after the second game of the series, the player complaining he wasn't playing enough.

Brown To Speak At Holy Name's Sports Banquet

Glenn Brown, head basketball coach at Northern Michigan University, will be the guest speaker at the 7th Annual All Sports Banquet at Holy Name High School on Sunday, April 5, in the school's multipurpose room.

Glen Brown

The banquet, which will begin at 6 p. m., is sponsored by the Holy Name Booster Club and honors the athletes and cheerleaders of all sports at Holy Name. Special awards to athletes who have excelled in certain departments will be presented.

Brown, whose coaching career has carried him through the service, high school and college ranks, recently completed his second season as head coach of the Wildcats. He is a native of Joplin, Mo., and earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees at Bradley University, where he was a two-year basketball letterman.

He began coaching at Fort Ord, Calif., directing an outstanding service team, then entered the prep ranks at Farmington, Ill. He also coached high school teams at Danville, Ill., and New Castle, Ind., before accepting the assistant coaching position at Northern. He held the post for two seasons before being appointed head coach in April of 1968.

Gordon Anderson, manager of the Coast-To-Coast Store in Escanaba, will serve as master of ceremonies for the event and Phil Currier, president of the Booster Club, will present the Booster of the Year award.

Tigers Suffer Loss To Royals

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Dick Drago pitched a five-hitter over eight innings Monday and the Kansas City Royals backed him with a long ball attack to score a 6-2 exhibition baseball victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Drago, who became the second Kansas City pitcher to go as many as eight innings, gave up a run in the second on a double by Willie Horton, an infield out and a single by Bill Freehan. He held the Tigers scoreless over the next six innings, giving up only three singles. Moe Drabowsky pitched the ninth and gave up a run on three hits.

Luis Alcaraz hit a two-run homer for the Royals in the second off Earl Wilson. Bob Oliver tripled in the fourth and scored on a sacrifice fly by Lou Piniella.

Pat Kelly tripled in a run in the seventh and later scored on a double steal. Ellie Rodriguez singled in a run in the eighth.

The Royals farmed four players out on option. They included pitcher Jerry Kram, infielders Bill Harris and Pat Lacanto, and catcher Buck Martinez. All were sent to the Royals' minor league camp at Daytona Beach, Fla., for reassignment.

Cardinals To Use Allen At Third; Boston Ready

By The Associated Press

Roaming Richie Allen will be back where he started ... almost ... when Philadelphia and St. Louis meet today in exhibition baseball.

Allen, who began his stormy major league career as a Philadelphia third baseman seven years ago, will start at the hot corner for the Cardinals against his former mates, St. Louis skipper Red Schoendienst said Monday.

The $90,000 slugger, acquired from the Phillies in the Curt Flood trade last fall, has played first base and the outfield in recent years.

The Cards have been looking for a third baseman since Mike Shannon was scratched indefinitely with a kidney ailment two weeks ago. Joe Torre, a catcher-first baseman, has been playing the position for the past week.

"I'd prefer to have Allen play third, but I don't know whether he can throw well enough," Schoendienst said. Allen has trouble throwing hard because of an old hand injury.

While the Cards prepared to test Richie at third, the Boston Red Sox gave newly-acquired Gary Peters a firmer assignment—the pitching chore in their season opener at New York next Tuesday.

Manager Eddie Kasko named Peters to start against the Yankees after the veteran left-hander, obtained from the Chicago White Sox during the winter, stymied St. Louis for seven innings in a 2-0 victory. Peters, who scattered six hits, has not given up a run in 24 innings this spring.

Southpaw Fritz Peterson, vying for the Yankees' opening day starting job, had more success as a batter than a pitcher in Monday night's 13-6 romp over Los Angeles. Peterson, tagged for 11 hits and five runs in his seven-inning stint, drove in three New York runs with a triple and single.

Cleveland's Barry Moore and Minnesota's Stan Williams, picked up by those clubs in winter transactions, turned in strong mound performances.

Moore allowed two hits in seven innings as the Indians whipped Oakland 7-2, running the Athletics' losing streak to seven, and Williams fired 4 1-3 scoreless innings in the Twins' 4-1 verdict over the Phillies.

Left-hander Ken Holtzman posted the Chicago Cubs' first complete game of the spring, beating California 6-2 on a five-hitter, and Dick Drago tossed eight innings, permitting five hits, as Kansas City topped Detroit by the same score.

Pittsburgh downed Cincinnati 5-4 on successive eighth inning homers by Ron Davis and Dave Cash, extending its winning string to six games.

The New York Mets, triggered by Cleon Jones' tie-breaking sixth inning homer, subdued the White Sox 5-3 and San Diego slugged Seattle 8-6 on two-run wallop by Tommy Dean, Nate Colbert and Chris Cannizzaro.

Rico Carty delivered three runs with a double and homer while Tony Gonzalez stroked three singles and a sacrifice fly in Atlanta's 6-2 victory over Montreal.

In a straight swap, San Diego dealt right-hander Tommie Sisk, 2-13 last season, to the White Sox for southpaw Jerry Nyma, who divided eight decisions with Chicago in 1969.

Church Dartball Tourney Begins

Presbyterian No. 1 captured the League Championship of the Men's Church Dartball League when they defeated Christ the King Lutheran Church of Escanaba two games out of three in a playoff, played at the Central Methodist Church last Tuesday.

All teams are reminded that tournament play starts Tuesday, March 31 at 7, with the following schedule:

At First Lutheran Church of Gladstone — Christ the King vs. R.L.D.S. Winner to play First Lutheran.

At First Methodist Church of Escanaba — Central Methodist No. 2 vs. Bethany Lutheran. Winner to play First Methodist.

At Calvary Lutheran of Rapid River — Presbyterian No. 2 vs. Memorial Methodist. Winner to play Calvary Lutheran.

At Central Methodist Church of Escanaba — Presbyterian No. 1 vs. Immanuel Lutheran. Winner to play Central Methodist No. 1.

Finals in the tournament will be played on April 7th at Christ the King Lutheran Church of Escanaba. The League Banquet will be held there also on April 18.

Spartans Rally To Edge Colgate

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — The Michigan State University baseball team nudged Colgate 3-2 Monday in their opening game of the second phase of the Hurricane Twin Tournament. The win gave the Spartans a 6-1 spring record.

The Spartans won the game in the sixth inning when Rob Ellis doubled and scored on a single by catcher Phil Rashead. Rashead later scored in the confusion of an attempted squeeze play which failed initially, but resulted in the losing pitcher, Jim Decker, dropping the ball at the plate as Rashead crossed.

Larry Ike, a freshman from Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills, won his third game of the spring.

Pilots Move Blocked In Bankruptcy Court

SEATTLE (AP) — The American League was faced with an intriguing section of its own constitution and the disquieting threat of antitrust legislation Monday as the winding judicial road from Seattle to Milwaukee suddenly seemed just a little longer.

The road the Seattle Pilots hoped to tread to Milwaukee was studded with legal rocks throughout a hearing in federal bankruptcy court. Then a boulder bounced down from the bar to stop the day's travel altogether.

And probably more important to baseball in the long run was the possible landslide started when Washington's two powerful democratic senators—Henry M. Jackson and Warren G. Magnuson—announced they would sponsor legislation putting baseball under antitrust laws. Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., was to sponsor similar legislation in the House.

The senators said the antitrust action wouldn't have any bearing on the Seattle-Milwaukee situation, "but rather could apply only against the American League in future actions."

"We'll probably introduce the legislation the first of next week, after the Easter recess," Jackson said. "I don't want to go into too much detail, but it would unequivocally put baseball under antitrust legislation."

"When the proposal was made for a nonprofit corporation (such as the one offered earlier in the Pilot situation) baseball would be in a different position under such legislation," Jackson said. "They wouldn't be able to turn it down just because it was nonprofit. This legislation would affect the player situation, the granting of franchises and such things," Jackson said.

He admitted that getting such legislation would be tough. "But I'm a realist and expected a hard fight. We've been assured of a hearing date," he added.

Bankruptcy referee Sidney C. Volinn's comment in the Seattle hearing came in his usual quiet, calm tone, but the impact seemed to change the whole mood of the proceedings.

"I must confess I'm intrigued by this section in your constitution about proceedings in bankruptcy court," Volinn told the American League attorneys.

Grid Clinic To Feature Michigan Tech Coaches

Ted Kearly, head football coach at Michigan Tech, and his assistant, Jim Kapp, will be the featured speakers Saturday morning, April 11, at the seventh annual spring football clinic to be held in Escanaba on April 10 and 11.

Directors of the Escanaba Football Coaches Clinic expect more than 130 coaches to attend the two day clinic, which has featured consistently fine speakers and entertainment. In addition to Kearly and Kapp on Saturday, Friday night's speakers will include Zeke Bratkowski of the Green Bay Packers and Rollie Dotsch of Northern Michigan University.

Kearly has been at Michigan Tech since 1967, and last year was appointed head coach of the Huskies. He is a native of Alpena and as a high school athlete gained all-state mention in football and basketball. He is a graduate of Michigan State University, where he was a member of the football team and led the baseball team in batting. He started his high school coaching career at Woodland High School in Lower Michigan and then coached at Cheboygan. A one year stay at Winona State College preceded his move to Michigan Tech.

Kapp was added to the Michigan Tech staff last fall to replace Kearly who moved into the head job. Kapp's undergraduate days were spent at Wooster, where a gridiron injury in his sophomore year shortened his active playing days. He spent his junior and senior years working with the Wooster freshmen and came to Michigan Tech after a successful career at Rochester High School.

The 1970 Clinic is being co-sponsored by the Escanaba Area coaches and Vally School Supplies of Appleton, Wisconsin, headed by former Packer Bob Skoronski.

All sessions will again be held at the Terrace Motel and Supper Club. Fans wishing to attend any of the sessions may pay their registration fee at the door. Further information can be obtained by writing Jerry Cvenegros at Escanaba, High School or Bob Dufour at Holy Name.

Court To Hear New Literacy Test Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to hear a major new challenge against states' literacy requirements on grounds they deny millions of Americans who don't speak English the right to vote.

"The right to vote is a fundamental right," said a petition filed by the Mexican-American federation and a group of farm laborers protesting the state of Washington's literacy requirements.

Arguments will come next fall in the class action suit.

It could have broad impact since it claims "literacy requirements affect from 3 million to 4 million people of voting age in 19 states."

The suit charges the state's registration practices amount to literacy tests, adding "the literacy requirement is a racial and ethnic gerrymander."

The Supreme Court in 1959 held that a state could require a literacy test as long as it applied to all voters regardless of race or color. In that case, the court upheld North Carolina's literacy test.

It got into the same area in 1965 in a New York Puerto Rican case, but there it upheld Congress' right to legislate against language barriers to the ballot, not the constitutionality of language tests themselves.

Thrusting at the past court holdings that literacy tests fairly administered are not necessarily unconstitutional, the Mexican-American petition said such ballot restrictions were rooted in discrimination and preserve its effects.

The ability to read English is not essential to enlightened voting, the petition said, since "the general public relies heavily on factors other than printed media in forming opinions and voting."

"Historically," the petition said, "in origin, purpose and effect, literacy requirements have been racially discriminatory."

"None of the original 13 states had any such requirement," the petition noted. "None existed in the United States until after the beginnings of massive European immigration to New England. None existed in the South until after Reconstruction, or in the West until after the Chinese immigration."

The petition added that Spanish language information is available from the broadcast media in Yakima County, Wash., where the suit originated.

WANTS SCIENTISTS

CHICAGO (AP)—The three "r's" are getting a teammate.

Ralph W. Herold, a science teacher, said radiation has become a fourth "r" in the nation's schools in an effort to stimulate a desire among students to become nuclear scientists.

A wide range of experiments in physics and chemistry now include experiments with radiation and its phenomena.

Students now experiment with irradiating golf balls and learn that they bounce better than unexposed balls. Irradiated foods remain fresh and sproutless after several months, while unirradiated potatoes and onions, for example, sprout and shrivel.

Thermal Pollution Study Is Limited

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A state official says he believes Michigan is spending no more than $20,000 per year to determine the effects of heat and radioactivity upon its waters.

Carlos Fetterolf, supervisor, water quality appraisal section of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, made the estimate Monday during testimony before a U.S. Senate subcommittee.

Sen. Philip Hart, the Michigan Democrat who heads the Subcommittee on energy, natural resources and the environment, commented after hearing Fetterolf's estimate that "you are tempted to make some outrageous remark" because the figure is so low.

However, the senator, whose subcommittee sought information on the effects of thermal pollution at Monday's hearing, later conceded he is uncertain how much the federal government is spending in those areas of research.

Fetterolf admitted that little is known about thermal pollution but added, "We are not concerned that the whole of Lake Michigan will be warmed by thermal discharge." He admitted concern about local effects of water heated while it is used to cool power plants.

Dr. Mary Alice McWhinnie, professor of biological science at Chicago's DePaul University, told the subcommittee that residents of the Great Lakes area should not be too concerned about thermal pollution because little is known about it and with knowledge will come means of control.

"This is not the time to stop the horse because I believe we will have the information before there is a great flurry of such (power) plants," she said.

Dr. McWhinnie, in conducting a $110,000 one-year study of the impact of discharging heated water into lakes and streams, contended there is little real knowledge of the effects of heat upon aquatic life.

But she insisted upon using the term thermal modification rather than thermal pollution in her testimony saying, "Thermal pollution conveys a certainty of damage which I am not prepared to make."

The scientist called repeatedly for more study of possible problems of thermal discharge and warned, "In science there is no room for estimates."

However she insisted that "it is knowledge we seek, not fear and alarm." Her remarks were among the few which drew applause as a dozen witnesses addressed the subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich. Hart was the only subcommittee member at the hearings.

Russell C. Youngdahl, vice president of Consumers Power Co., which is building a nuclear plant near South Haven, contended federal figures indicate all present and planned power plants along Lake Michigan would raise the lake's over-all temperature less than one-tenth of one degree.

But Hart asked about local effects of discharging water heated inside the plants as it is used for cooling.

"This is why we are conducting extensive studies to learn the effects of the Palisades Plant and we stand ready to repair any damages," Youngdahl replied.

Then, a citizens group from Stevensville, just south of St. Joseph, called for moving that plant.

And, the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association is circulating petitions asking that the Palisades Plant be sited a license to operate unless it is able to return water to the lake at the same temperature it was obtained.

Dr. John P. Sharon, representing a conservation group called the Grand Mere Association, said the group has demanded that the Palisades Plant not be permitted to discharge hot water into the lake; it must use cooling towers to lower water temperatures before returning the liquid to the lake, and the plant should be moved inland to a location away from any large body of fresh water.

Throughout the hearing, there was testimony indicating very little is known about the effects of thermal pollution. In fact, Dr. McWhinnie contended most of the confusion on the subject "is due to mixing up what little information there is."

Ted MacDonald of Lafayette, Ind., expressed the feeling of several witnesses when he argued that not enough is known about thermal pollution or radioactivity to risk allowing them to occur in Lake Michigan.

"Why must we proceed at such a rapid pace when we don't have the answers?" MacDonald asked.

Earth Day

EAST LANSING (AP)—Plans for "Earth Day," an environmental teach-in slated for April 22 at Michigan State University, are underway along with the admonition that "cars, aerosols, cans, detergents—the very things that make life easy are also making it harder to live."

MSU announced the teach-in program Monday, noting that environmental pollutants are the target of the student-planned teach-in activities.

Blue Shield Freezing Fees Paid To Doctors

LANSING (AP) — Saying it "is deeply disturbed by the general escalation of health care costs," the Blue Shield insurance plan says it is freezing doctor fees paid by it at present levels for the rest of 1970.

The plan, which insures payment of doctor bills, also said it is chopping back prevailing payments for what a spokesman described as "a very wide range" of medical procedures.

Both changes go into effect Wednesday, the agency said, adding that "this means simply that Blue Shield intends to stabilize its benefit payments."

Doctors have been paid on a so-called "variable fee" system under which they could charge Blue Shield whatever the going rate moved up to in their areas.

The freeze and cutback disclosure came from John C. McCabe, president of Blue Shield, appearing before State Insurance Commissioner Russell E. Van Hooser to support the plan's request for approval of a 15.9 per cent increase in rates. Blue Cross, which insures hospital payments, is seeking a 3.8 per cent increase.

Blue Shield-Blue Cross policies cover approximately five million persons in Michigan.

McCabe reported Blue Shield's directors voted unanimously to institute "a cost stabilization and control program effective Wednesday, April 1, and to continue through the balance of the year."

"Michigan Blue Shield," he added, "is operating in a deficit situation now and may do so through December, despite the proposed (upward rate) adjustment and despite benefit controls."

"Blue Shield's current financial difficulties have their roots in unanticipated increases in physicians' charges, increased utilization of benefits by our subscribing population, inadequate subscription charges and extraordinary depletion of reserve balances caused by previous decisions of the (state) insurance bureau...."

"It is illustrative to note that we provided more than $213 million in benefits under our underwritten programs in 1969, compared to $148 million in 1968. Yet our income was less than $198 million, compared to almost $158 million in 1968."

McCabe said operating expenses were "not a factor of any importance," being 8.33 per cent of income in 1969 and 8.10 in 1968.

"To be sustained," McCabe said, "this organization requires your approval of our filings (for a rate increase), plus the cooperation of the provider (doctors) and our subscriber population."

"It must be re-emphasized that even if physician charges had not increased, our benefit payments would have increased because the cost escalation is based on a number of factors, not the least important being the upward pressure coming from increased demand for medical services."

A spokesman for the United Auto Workers Union urged Van Hooser to deny the requested Blue Shield increase, saying it "would double the cost of physicians' services every two years" if the agency follows its current pattern of hikes.

Marcellus Ivory, UAW international executive board member, also opposed any Blue Cross increase and called for widespread changes in that agency's operations.

Marcellus Ivory, UAW international executive board member, also opposed any Blue Cross increase and called for widespread changes in that agency's operations.

Zolton Ferency, a Democratic candidate for governor, charged in a statement that Blue Shield "has become inefficient, extravagant and arrogant, and now it's near bankruptcy."

Ferency said a $48 million shrinkage in Blue Shield surplus funds since mid-1968 was not used to reduce rates and most all of it went to pay higher fees to doctors.

Dr. J.J. Brown, a chiropractor, also urged Van Hooser to deny a Blue Shield increase, contending medical doctors control the plan and "have mismanaged the interests of Blue Shield policy holders to where they now are paying one-third more than the rest of the United States for treatments by MDs."

Brown said 19 of 35 seats on the Blue Shield board of directors are occupied by medical doctors. He also said Blue Shield had been granted rate increases of 52 per cent over the last three years.

Schools Open After 'Scare'

Schools in the Manistique area reopened for classes as usual this morning following an anonymous telephone call Monday night that a bomb had been planted in one of the schools.

A search was undertaken immediately by city and state police assisted by school personnel.

Nothing was found, officers said.

Public Safety Director Joseph McDonough said someone called his department at 7:15 p. m. Monday night and said "a bomb will go off in the next 48 hours in one of the Manistique area schools." The caller then hung up.

This is the first time a "bomb scare" has been reported in the Manistique area and law enforcement officers are not very happy about the development.

The penalties are severe for anyone who indulges in the practice of making false reports, State Police Capt. Donald Davidson said. Making a false criminal report, a Circuit Court misdemeanor, is punishable by one year in jail or a $500 fine. The manufacture and possession of explosives, a felony, is punishable by five years imprisonment.

In Memoriam

Tucker

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and brother, Fred O. Tucker who passed away one year ago, March 31, 1969.

He bid no one a last farewell. He said goodbye to none. His loving heart had ceased to beat. Before we knew it, he was gone. Everyday we sadly miss him. Deeply we feel our loss. Lonely we are without him. Help us, God, to bear our cross.

Sadly missed by Wife, Children, Sisters and Brothers

Weber

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Helen Weber who passed away three years ago, March 31, 1967.

The years may wipe out many things, But this we wipe out never: The memory of those happy days. When we were all together.

Sadly missed by Robert Weber and the Ronald Nantelle Family

Vernor's Winner In Battle With Rival Coca-Cola

DETROIT (AP) — Underdog Vernor's diet drink took on the giant Coca-Cola empire in a Detroit federal Court Monday and won.

Vernor's took Coca-Cola of Atlanta, Ga., into court with a suit to enjoin their Fresca Division from advertising itself as the only leading diet drink which is sugar-free and cyclamate free.

Prior to court hearings before Federal Judge Theodore Levin Monday, the matter was resolved, according to a spokesman for Vernor's Inc., which maintains that in the Michigan and Detroit area, Vernor's One Calorie is also a leading diet drink, and that therefore the Fresca advertisement is misleading.

Vernor's contends that One Calorie contains less sugar than Fresca and is also cyclamate free.

In the court stipulation Coca-Cola agreed that:

— "the sales record of Vernor's One Calorie in and around Michigan establishes that it is a leading Michigan diet drink;

— "since Jan. 12, 1970, Vernor's One Calorie has been sugar and cyclamate free;

— "because there may be confusion in Michigan about the contents of Vernor's One Calorie due to the Fresca television commercial which describes itself as the only leading diet drink which is sugar and cyclamate free, such advertisements shall be discontinued on a national network and Michigan basis."

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Free Food Plan Under Attack

DETROIT (AP) — A special U.S. Senate report released in Washington Monday charged that only 343 of some 80,000 eligible persons in the Detroit area are receiving free food from a federal program to combat malnutrition in indigent families.

Dr. George Pickett, city-county health commissioner blamed the situation on the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) which sponsors the program. He said the USDA has failed to make funds available to distribute food here.

William Hairston, a USDA administrator in Detroit said the USDA program requires the distribution to be paid for by the local or state governments.

Pickett and Hairston agreed that thousands of mothers and children are being denied the food under the program, but Pickett said he estimated the number at about 53,000 not the 80,000 in the Senate report. Hairston accepted Pickett's figure.

Pickett said the cost of distribution to the 53,000 would be about $300,000.

The 343 that are benefitting from the program are members of the Detroit Maternal and Infant Care project at Herman Kiefer Hospital.

The Senate report blamed local officials in Detroit for the failures of the program. The report said there was little effort made here to identify poor mothers and children eligible for the program or to set up convenient centers for the distribution of the food.

To clear homemade consommé, add a beaten egg white to the stock; bring to a boil, then strain through a very fine sieve.

Briefly Told

Marriage license applications have been made at the County Clerk's office by the following couples: Michael Brian Quinn, Escanaba and Evelyn Jean Scherriff, Escanaba and Robert Elmer Johnson, Villa Park, Ill., and Judith Ann Boyce, 113 S. 12th St.

Arthur M. Godfrey, 602 Superior Ave., Gladstone, was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail for Contempt of Court-nonpayment of child support in Circuit Court Monday by Judge Bernard H. Davidson.

The Immunization Clinic that was scheduled for Wednesday at Carney has been canceled.

Interviews Set For Candidates

Eight candidates for the Escanaba Council and five candidates for the Gladstone Commission will be interviewed tonight on cable television Channel 4.

Sponsored by H&B American Cablevision, "A Night With The Candidates" will be live from cablevision studios, 612 Laidington St., beginning at 6:30 p. m. The public is invited to telephone questions to candidates at 786-9582 while the program is in progress.

Moderators will be Barbara Nebel of the Delta Reporter and John Dagenais of American Cablevision.

Mrs. Robert Haack, voter service chairman of the League of Women Voters, and Mrs. Harold Anderson will review voting machine procedures.

All candidates have accepted invitations to appear on the program at which they will be individually asked to respond to questions regarding municipal affairs.

Candidates for the two-year term in Escanaba are: Leo Alperovitz, Richard Pryal and Eugene O. Slagstad.

Candidates for two four-year terms in Escanaba are: Harold Cloutier, John W. Curran, Ronald DeVos, Albin S. Pearson Jr., and Jon R. Taylor.

Two persons will be elected
